

WSU AccessID Information for New Students

Your WSU AccessID and password combination is your unique key to accessing computing services and resources at Wayne State: WSU Pipeline (single access to systems, self services, WSU info.), WSU E-mail, Blackboard (online courses and materials, e-Portfolio on the Web), Library computers and electronic resources, free dial-in Internet services (currently limited, to end July 2007), wireless and wired Internet on campus, discounted Microsoft software, and free downloads of antivirus and other software.

- Your WSU AccessID is made up of two letters + four numbers (like xy6789) and your temporary password is your 9-digit personal ID/PID (like 000999999).
 - These numbers were mailed to you when you applied to Wayne State, for use of limited AccessID services (to track your application and use Library computers).
 - When you log in to WSU Pipeline (at pipeline.wayne.edu) the very first time (as an applicant or an admitted student), the system knows you're new to Wayne State and asks you to set up the following AccessID self services to:
 - ➔ Change your temporary AccessID password for security purposes.
 - ➔ Set up a challenge question and response (so you can easily change your AccessID password yourself, in case you ever forget it).
 - After you're admitted to Wayne State, you can access many more AccessID services, including a free WSU E-mail account.

To activate your WSU E-mail account, log in to WSU Pipeline after you are admitted. At this time, you are asked to set up the following WSU E-mail features:

- ➔ Set Mail Forwarding if you use another e-mail address regularly—so you receive class assignments and other WSU E-mail sent to your AccessID E-mail address.
- ➔ Create an E-mail Name to personalize your e-mail (e.g., johndoe@wayne.edu).
- Lost your AccessID? Look it up yourself at wayne.edu: click WSU Directories.
- Forgot your password? Set a challenge question and response to change it yourself.
